Impact of Media on Society → (352 words) ^{Penalty (use fewer words than 300)}

I Media has become the limelight of the entertainment industry. It provides information on each and every aspect related to society. It also aids in the dissemination of ideas to every nook and corner of the globe. There are types of media in the world such as tv, radio, newspapers, internet, Media has been designated as a powerful way of communication. ^{example: all imp}

The following are the ways in which media can influence society:

- II
- With the arrival of media, image, and videos are played on television, mobile phones, etc. with this effect, people can get access to information and therefore public opinion becomes crucial in order to make any decision.
 - An ordinary citizen can open his grievance through social media in a way that he could get justice, so, media has promoted transparency in a work environment.
 - Media is a source of entertainment where people can watch movies, documentaries and real-life stories which gives them a sense of rejuvenation. Media can work effectively by exposing the social ills of society to the government. It can also bridge the gap between the public and governments by forming an appropriate opinion so that the governments can act according to it.
 - Media can have a negative impact on the youth as they believe whatever is shown on tv and social websites, as a result of it, most youngsters get addicted to it which may take a toll on their physical and mental well-being. ex: adult content can cause lots of problems in young minds.

III It is known fact that media has a bias towards different parties by which they tend to manipulate the information and try to project only one side of the coin. Finally, we can conclude that the media is a double-edged sword as it has both advantages and disadvantages. If used properly media can be an asset to society and benefit the public, or else it can cause social upheaval across the society.

do not say + and - in both in conclusion.

Will Digital India Mission become successful? Discuss merits and demerits towards the digitized world.

Intro Digital India a campaign launched by our Prime Minister Mr. Narendra Modi on 1st July 2015. Digital India was brought into action to ensure that all government services are available on citizens electronically via improved online infrastructure and increased internet connectivity. The campaign also aims to make the country digitally empowered in the field of technology. The initiatives includes plans to connect rural areas with high-speed internet networks.

Adv Some of the services provided through this initiative are digital lockers, e-education, e-health, e-sign documents handling capabilities, e-shopping and a national scholarship portal. Let us take some examples like banking has been affected tremendously since the demonetisation process of 2016. Since then, people have begun to use many technological services like paytm, phonepe, Tez and so on. A coolie from Kerala was able to crack the PSC service exam by using the internet on his phone while working. The need for these campaigns around the country is more crucial than ever and their results are clear.

-ve So now let's check some drawbacks of the campaign first is hacking and it poses a threat to digital transactions. Also the several people find it a really hard transition. Confusion while using the digital payment methods might lead to deception. As people are provided with internet social media, computer games, messaging and going through website has turned addictive.

Conclusion Now we have discussed both the sides of the topic but the real question whether this campaign will turn successful? Well, thinking positively if we will be able to use this campaign for development only if it can give positive outcomes. India needs digitizing to stand ~~to use this campaign for development only if it can give~~ in the world market. So we the youngsters should think how this campaign can be useful for several people. Also we need to find some security algorithms to overcome data insecurity.

5 Nature provides us much. But when we abuse nature, we risk disaster. Write a response explaining how we harm ourselves and how we harm the environment.

Everything humans have needed to survive, and thrive, was provided by the natural world around us: food, water, medicine, materials for shelter, and even natural cycles such as climate and nutrients. Scientists have come to term such gifts 'ecosystem services'. In spite of all this we all have proofs that we are harming the nature and in turn now we are witnessing nature's drastic selection.

Deforestation, contamination, groundwater contamination, air pollution, and other environmental hazards have been brought into existence by overpopulation in a clear way. They are only the symptoms of a fatal malady. Each and every one of these a clear and present threat for not only our ecosystem but our health. As such the incidence of cancer, pulmonary, cardiovascular, neurological and cellular and hundreds of other malformations and problems affecting the human species has risen these past decades. In addition to this, in recent monsoon we have experienced drastic floods in many parts of our country especially in Western Maharashtra.

Here we can take the example of Arsalay's deforestation for metro. Before doing such acts government should take into consideration what effects can take place. As a common man we should start from ourselves to take care of our environment. For example, we know that cars generate a huge amount of air pollution. A simple step to reduce the amount of air pollutants we generate is to drive less. Walk to work, ride a bike, or even get an electric car, using cloth bags instead of using plastic or we could say simply avoid plastics. Planting trees and taking care of them.

Fate

We have seen a tremendous growth in technology past years. Technology has made human's work very easy and fast. In addition, technology is going to experience exponential development in coming years. Let us discuss about its effects on human beings.

Technology is very prominent in life, How? very simple because human brain is developing these technologies for human safety for human welfare every technology is being developed for the world purpose. The recent advancement in communication and technological sectors like mobiles, automobile have helped us tremendously. This shows our positive and progressive behaviour.

As every coin has two sides, it is the case with technology. It depends on users that how much they use it. Now technology has become part of our lives. "As people rely more and more on technology to solve problems, the ability of humans to think for themselves will surely deteriorate." As the quotation says, nowadays people rely more and more on technology rather than their own brains to solve an issue.

When human will realise that technology is introduced for him and not the case that he is there for technology then this will bring positive effects for him. It is in our hands to make correct use of technology for exact time. Technology can make any complicated task easy but at the same time, it can create addiction. If we are able to control its use for unnecessary purpose then it will turn beneficial.

Fake News : A modern Issue

Fraudulent, misstatement, falsification just to protect one's intellectual property, things get fake. Fake and filthy enough to spread the news over the world. Nowadays, fake news is circulating around the globe ~~cont~~ ostentatiously, even causing fear to its intended audiences.

Can fake news cause harm to the public? The answer is presumably yes. Some widespread fraudulent news may cause revolt, followed by causing harm to the public, especially if it has been applied to political issues. Protestation and riots may occur.

Monetizing news on social media has become a common practice to get attention and money, while it manipulates the viewers into believing it. However, blockchain can help reduce these types of news. Blockchain could be the closest technology to being able to solve the fake news problem by changing the way organizations collect and store the data.

Fake news can further be described as an epidemic once it has been in contact with the public it will keep on spreading until it gets fully exposed or resolved. Most misleading news are omnipresent and observant in distinguishing and difficult to circumvent them; however, some people become sensitive and emotionally concerned without trying to understand if the news is factual or not. It is better for people to act intelligently to gather analytical data from various sources, particularly from references that have the best records of trustworthiness journalism.
